

Person Centred Approach & Planning

Norwood is committed to taking a Person Centred Approach to working with all the people who use its services.

The Person Centred Approach explained

'Person Centred Approaches' means supporting people to exercise real choice in everything they do in order to ultimately have control over their own lives.

Person centred planning, which offers a range of tools to help achieve this, discovers not just what is important for but what is important to each person and uses this information to determine the support they need to achieve their goals.

The services Norwood provide aim not just to improve but to transform lives, leading to greater fulfilment and ultimately full inclusion in society.
