

Neville Kahn

Neville is a well-known and respected member of the Jewish community and is also a leading figure in the world of business and finance. He has been involved with Norwood as a supporter for a number of years, and has also appeared as a guest speaker at its fundraising events. In 2005, he co-founded with Adam Plainer, of Jones Day, the Norwood Distressed Investors Dinner Committee and is currently its Co-Chair. Since then, the committee has raised an incredible £620,000 for the Charity.

Neville is a Partner with Deloitte Reorganisation Services, where he specialises in corporate restructuring and insolvency. He has acted as lead insolvency practitioner on a number of complex administrations and receiverships, including the recent closure of Woolworths Plc, Waterford Wedgwood and Jarvis. He sits on the Policy Committee of the Association of Business Recovery Professionals and also has experience in strategic and financial business reviews.

He is also active in several other community organisations and is both a Freeman and Liveryman of the City of London.

An enthusiastic Arsenal FC supporter and keen golfer, Neville is married and has three children.
